Background:

Afghanistan is one of the multi hazard prone countries of South Asia, with earthquakes, floods, droughts, landslides, sandstorms, and avalanches as the common natural disasters. Heavy rain and snow cause major problems across the region almost every year. Extreme winter conditions and avalanches are also a recurrent feature in the mountainous areas of Afghanistan that make up approximately 63 per cent of the country. Poor housing provides little protection to the households in rural parts of the country. Lack of capacity and resources within government institutions further adds to the vulnerabilities of families affected or displaced by natural disasters.

In 2015, IOM Afghanistan in line with its "Disaster Risk Management and Disaster Risk Reduction Framework 2015-2017" will implement a 36 month DRR project with the overall aim of strengthening Government of Islamic Republic of Afghanistan's (GIROA's) Disaster Risk Management capacities at the national, provincial and community level.

Disaster Risk Management (DRM) components will focus on selected disaster-prone communities across ten provinces in the Western, Northern, Northeast, South, Central Highland, Central regions: Herat, Faryab, Balkh, Jawzjan, Sari Pul, Baghlan, Takhar, Bamyan, Helmand and Kabul.

The project comprises of three major components set forward to achieve the objectives of strengthening preparedness and resilience at national, provincial and community level

1. National Disaster Management Information System (NDMIS)
2. Community-Based Disaster Risk Management (CBDRM)
3. Disaster Risk Management Infrastructure (retention/gabion walls)

In addition, IOM through its Humanitarian Assistance Program (HAP) is implementing emergency response project through which natural disaster affected and displaced
